

CODE OF BUSINESS CONDUCT AND ETHICS

1 Overall Purpose & Principles

The purpose of this Code of Business Conduct and Ethics (the “Code”) is to deter wrongdoing, to promote integrity and to define the standards and values which the Company expects its directors, officers, employees (including permanent, contract and temporary employees) and independent contractors (“Company Persons”) to follow in all of their dealings with stakeholders.

The Code states basic principles that should guide the affairs of Emergent Metals Corp. and its subsidiaries (the “Company” or “Emergent”) and addresses certain specific situations, but it is not intended to be comprehensive. All Company Persons are encouraged to seek guidance from another more senior Company Person on specific issues, particularly with respect to potential conflicts of interest. The Company’s board of directors (the “Board”) is responsible for setting the standards of business conduct contained in the Code and updating these standards as it deems appropriate, in order to reflect changes in the legal and regulatory framework applicable to the Company, the business practices within the Company’s industry, the Company’s own business practices, and the prevailing ethical standards of the communities in which the Company operates. While the Board will oversee and monitor compliance with the Code, it is the individual responsibility of each Company Person to comply with the Code. Each Company Person is expected to read and become familiar with the Code and may be required, from time to time, to affirm in writing his or her compliance with the Code.

2 Guiding Principles

All Company Persons must:

- (a) act honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of the Company;
- (b) exercise due care, diligence and skill in fulfilling the functions of their position;
- (c) avoid conflicts of interest that have the potential to harm the Company, including the harm of negative appearance;
- (d) maintain the confidentiality of Company information;
- (e) exercise the powers attached to their employment or other contractual arrangements, as applicable, for the purposes for which they were intended;
- (f) use the assets of the Company for the purposes for which they were intended;
- (g) demonstrate honesty, truthfulness, respectfulness and integrity in all business dealings and interactions with the Company’s shareholders, customers, suppliers, competitors and other Company Persons;

- (h) except as permitted, contemplated or intended pursuant to or in connection with any agreements made between the Company and any First Nations entities that are entered into in connection with the rights of First Nations peoples (in such case, a “First Nations Agreement”), refrain from discrimination, intimidation or harassment towards any Company Person or any other person in any aspect based on religion, race, color, age, gender, sexual orientation, marital status, physical or mental disability or national or ethnic origin;
- (i) provide full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable disclosure to allow the same to be provided to the public in the Company’s shareholder reports and in other public communications and filings of the Company;
- (j) conduct all of the Company’s operations, including exploration, development and mining activities, using environmental best practices in the jurisdictions in which the Company operates with a goal of protecting human health, minimizing negative impacts on the ecosystem and ultimately restoring disturbed sites to a high environmental standard; and
- (k) act in accordance with all applicable laws and regulations, adhere to the ethical standards set out in the Code and follow the Company’s policies and procedures.

This Code provides guidance to Company Persons on their ethical and legal responsibilities and states basic principles that should guide the affairs of the Company. While this Code may deal with certain specific situations, it is not practical for such a Code to comprehensively cover every specific situation that may be encountered. Each Company Person is responsible to abide by all rules, regulations and requirements of applicable law.

3 Conflicts of Interest

- 3.1 All Company Persons have an obligation to act in the best interests of the Company at all times. Further, all Company Persons are required to avoid situations where their own personal or business interests interfere or might appear to interfere in any way with the interests of the Company.
- 3.2 A conflict of interest will arise when a Company Person must choose between the Company’s best interests and their personal interests (including the interests of another company), including when a Company Person has or could have a personal interest in a Company transaction. No Company Person may take advantage of corporate opportunities in the course of exercising their duties with the Company, including, but not limited to, making introductions or facilitating the transfer, disposition, acquisition, sale or optioning of mineral exploration properties to competitors of the Company, unless the Board has specifically declined the opportunity under the same or more favorable terms.

Any situation where the judgment of a Company Person may be compromised, where he or she shows undue favoritism to any party or where he or she receives a personal benefit of some kind is potentially a conflict of interest. All Company Persons must strive to avoid situations that create a conflict, create the potential for a conflict or create the appearance of a conflict (material or significant). In the rare instance where creating such a situation is beneficial for the Company, before proceeding, the Company Person must first seek the approval of the Board.

- 3.3 Company Persons, while providing services to the Company are not permitted to take steps contrary to the best interests of the Company and may not:
- (a) use the Company's property for his or her own material benefit;
 - (b) influence the Company's contractors, consultants or advisors for his or her personal gain;
 - (c) recommend decisions for the Company that materially benefit the employee, his or her family members, friends, or other business interests;
 - (d) personally act on business opportunities presented to the Company, including but not limited to acquiring or attempting to acquire any property, security or any business interest which they know that the Company is interested in acquiring;
 - (e) own more than a 5% interest in any entity that is a competitor of the Company without first obtaining the approval of the Board;
 - (f) be a consultant to, or an officer or employee of, or otherwise operate an outside entity that is a direct competitor of the Company; and
 - (g) serve on the board of an entity that is a competitor of the Company without first obtaining the approval of the Board.

For the purposes of Subsections 3.3(e), (f), and (g), a direct competitor of the Company means a mineral exploration or mining company that is or is planning to explore or mine the same metals as Emergent in the geographic vicinity that Emergent is or is planning to operate.

- 3.4 During business hours, full time employees are required to devote their full time and attention to the Company. Any employees who are not full-time employees are required to devote the time and attention to the Company's affairs as are contemplated in their respective employment agreements.
- 3.5 Where a conflict of interest may exist, then the Company Person must immediately disclose the conflict to: (a) the Board Chair in the case of directors or the CEO; (b) the CEO in the case of all other officers of the Company; and (c) the CFO in the case of all other Company Persons.
- 3.6 If a Company Person becomes aware of a material transaction or relationship (including those involving family members) that could reasonably be expected to give rise to a conflict of interest, he or she should discuss the matter promptly with the Chair of the Audit Committee or another member of the Audit Committee.
- 3.7 In addition to any other requirements pursuant to applicable law, where a director has a conflict of interest, such director shall retire from any meeting of the Board, if required by the Board Chair, while discussion on the applicable material contract or transaction or proposed material contract or transaction is taking place and shall refrain from voting on the subject under consideration, but this will not prevent the Board from calling him or her into the meeting to answer any questions regarding the matter under discussion nor shall it release the director from his or her obligation to inform the Board.

4 Use of Company Resources and Corporate Opportunities

- 4.1 All Company Persons are to safeguard and use the Company's resources for legitimate business purposes only. The Company and its Company Persons will take steps to prevent theft, carelessness and any manner of material waste that has a direct impact on the Company's profitability.

Unauthorized use or distribution of this information is a violation of this Code. It may also be illegal and result in civil or criminal penalties.
- 4.3 Opportunities which become available to a Company Person by reason of his or her position with the Company or employment activities must be disclosed to the Company and be treated as if belonging to the Company. All Company Persons are prohibited from using Company property or information for personal gain, taking personal advantage of opportunities that are discovered through the use of Company property or information, or competing with the Company.

- 5.3 To avoid inadvertent disclosure of confidential information, Company Persons shall not discuss confidential information with or in the presence of any unauthorized persons, including family members and friends.
- 5.4 The obligation to preserve confidential information continues even after the employment or other relationship of the Company Person with the Company ends.
- 5.5 Proper use of all of the Company's property, information resources (including internet, email, and intranet) and communications systems is the responsibility of all Company Persons. The assets of the Company are intended for conducting Company business. All electronic and telephonic communication products, intranet and internet servers or any other systems owned, licensed or operated by the Company are considered the Company's business records, and therefore, Company property and should be used in accordance with Company corporate policy. The copying or use of the Company's intellectual property for personal use or benefit during or after employment with the Company is prohibited. Proprietary information including intellectual property and corporate private or confidential information is extremely valuable and must not be disclosed to anyone without proper authorization.
